One sunny morning the hot, bright sun woke up and lit up the world. Next out of the hard, white egg popped a tiny caterpillar and he started looking for some food.

