You will need:

- The Very Hungry Caterpillar book (Books we love)
- links to Eric Carle's website.
- Pictures to sequence (A)
- Writing starter (A-)

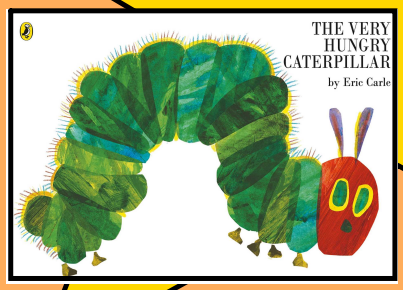

Home Learners - Listen to Ms Bibi's video introducing the learning this week and reading the story 'The Very Hungry Caterpillar'

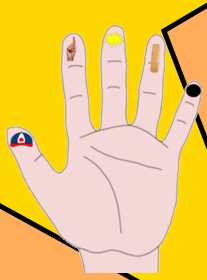

Our learning journey so far this week...

Today we are going to meet the author Eric Carle and retell one of his well-known stories!

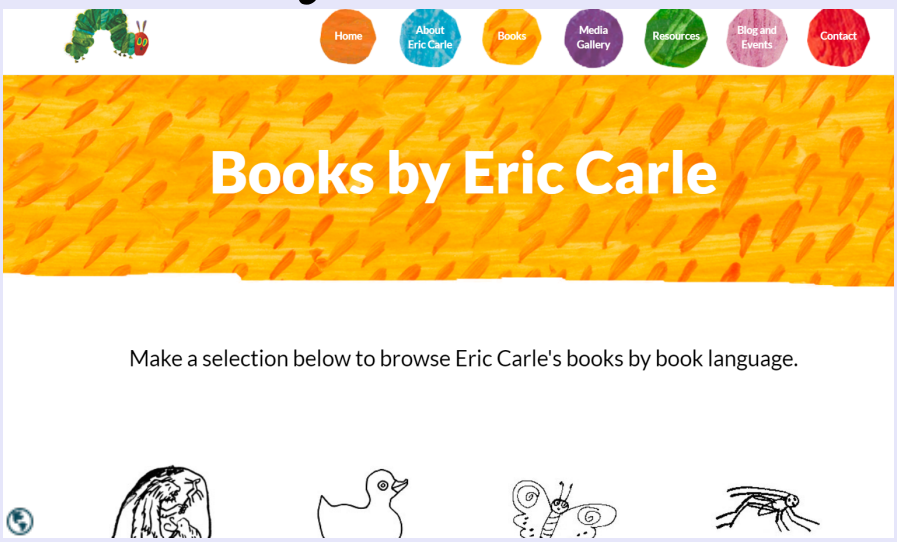

This week we are learning about the Author Eric Carle and listening to some of his stories!

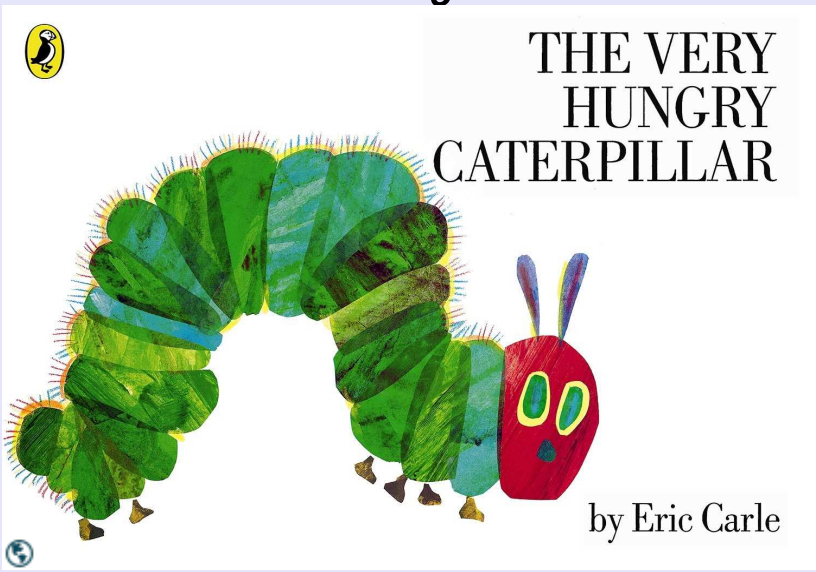

Let's meet him to find out more!

Eric Carle has been writing books for many years and has won lots of awards!

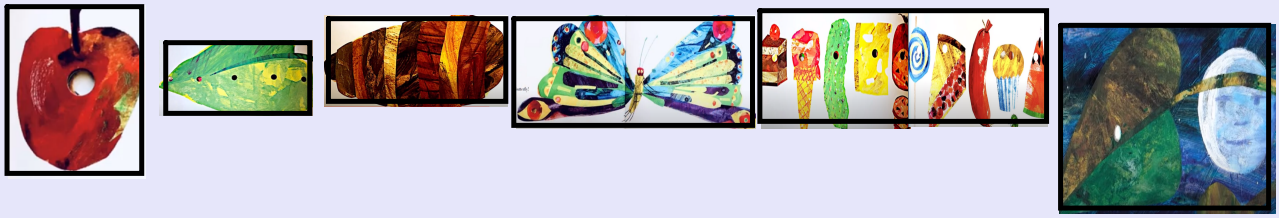

Let's explore his own website to find out more about his books!

Let's read his most well-known story!

Listen carefully to what happened in each part of the story!

Let's order the story...
What happened first? next?

Today we are retelling a story!

What is a retell?

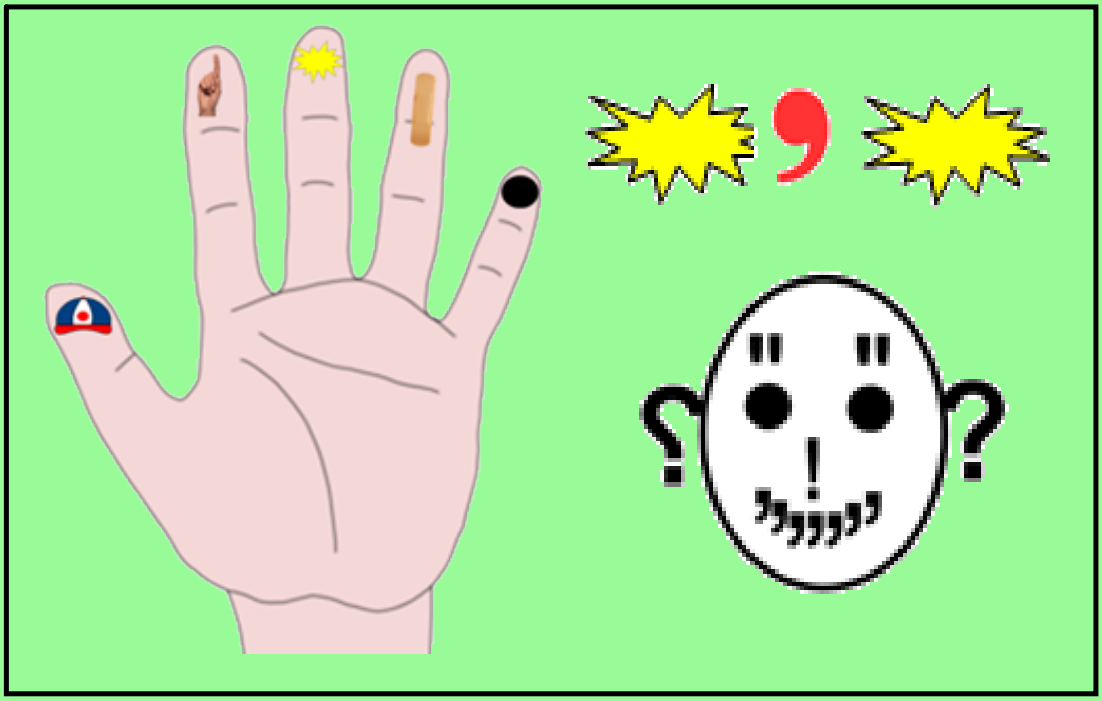

What kind of words help us to retell a story?

first next then after

suddenly meanwhile

finally

What else will help you write your story today?

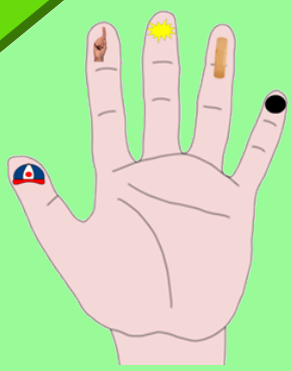

wagoll

It was a dark, gloomy evening and the moon looked as radiant as a bright, white torch shining down. There on a smooth, delicate leaf lay a tiny, small and white egg waiting patiently to open. Suddenly one Sunday morning, just as the shiny, bright sun was rising, out of the egg popped a tiny and very hungry caterpillar! How excited he must have felt!

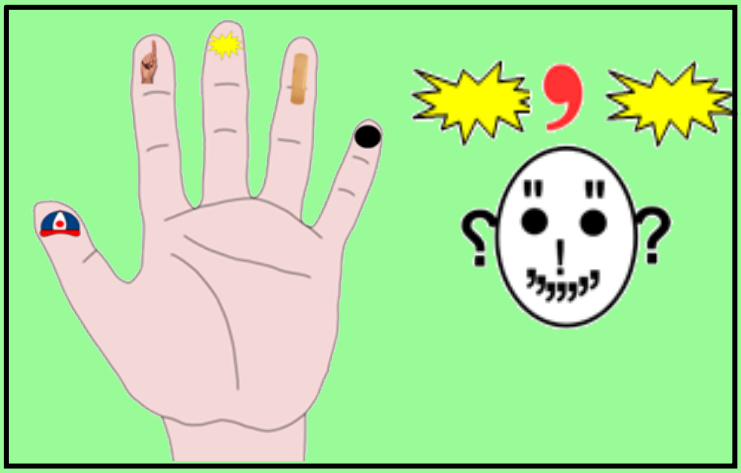

Posh talk the start of your story 'The Very Hungry Caterpillar'.

first next then after
suddenly meanwhile
finally

Retell the story 'The Very Hungry Caterpillar'.

first next then after
suddenly meanwhile
finally

Monday Saturday
Tuesday Sunday
Wednesday apple
Thursday strawberry
Friday orange

gherkin sausage cocoon