We are learning about different types of sentences.

A few weeks ago we looked at the different types of sentences that we can use in our writing.

Who can remember what they are?

- Questions
- Statements
- Exclamations
- Commands

Can you think of a ..... for this picture?

statement command

question exclamation

We have already explored the different types of sentences and put them on the table. Today we are going to lock in and complete our own sentence activity.

Your job is to read the sentences on your table and decide what type of sentence it is.

Stick the sentence in the correct box in the table.
